University overview

Characteristics and history
Nara Women's University has its beginning in the former Nara Women's Higher Normal School founded in 1908, and celebrated its 110th anniversary in May of 2019. Since its foundation, we have fulfilled our role as an institute providing women with education at the highest level.

Our campus is in the central part of Nara City where many historical legacies have been found. Within such beautiful sites, the university is comprised of three undergraduate faculties, the Faculty of Letters, the Faculty of Science, and the Faculty of Human Life and Environment. We also have the Graduate School of Humanities and Sciences, offering high level of academic research education. While small in scale, we strive for an individualized approach to education and research. There are 200 faculty members and 2,700 students whereby small-group instruction in detail is available.

In addition, the International Exchange Center is working on various activities by advocating our principles “to be open, promote international exchange and contribute to the regional society.” We have concluded exchange agreements with 54 universities overseas, and approximately 180 international students are currently enrolled.
